DIES SUDDENLY FROM ATTACK OF HEART TROUBLE

Frank P. Webb, Popular Conductor, Dies Suddenly in Knoxville

HAD SUFFERED PREVIOUS ILLNESS

Body Will Be Brought to This City Today For Burial

A message received in this city yesterday afternoon announced the death of Capt. Frank P. Webb, which occurred yesterday morning in his room at a boarding house in Knoxville, Tenn., and was the result of an attack of the heart, from which he has been a long sufferer.

The announcement of his death caused expressions of regret from all sides, so universal was the friendly feeling existing between he and so many citizens of this city, where he was born and raised and where he has spent the whole of his life.

Capt. Webb passed through Paris Wednesday night on his run between Cincinnati and Knoxville and was in apparently good health, although he has been a sufferer for a great while with heart trouble and has been in the care of a physician for some time.

His wife was with him Wednesday and spent the day with him in Cincinnati, returning to Paris Wednesday night, Mr. Webb continuing on his trip to Knoxville, where he arrived yesterday morning about ten o'clock. His relative here received only slight details of his death last night.

It is said that Mr. Webb, upon arriving at Knoxville went to his room, previously leaving a call for the hour he was accustomed to arise, before going out on his run. It is supposed that he suffered a heart attack some time during the morning from the effects of which he died and his condition was not discovered until yesterday afternoon at about two o'clock. His relatives here were immediately notified.

Mr. Webb was one of the best known and most popular conductors on the Kentucky Central Division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad. Not only was he popular with the officials of the company and other employees, but was highly regarded by the traveling public. He was held in the highest esteem and regarded as one of the most valued employees on the road.

Mr. Webb, who was about fifty-two years of age, was a son of the late William Webb and Mary C. Webb. He was born and raised in Paris, where he has always made his home. For a number of years he was the local agent of the Adams Express Company, and later took a position with the railroad company. His promotions came rapidly and when the through runs on this division of the road were established he was promoted to the position he held at the time of his death.

About five years ago he was married to Miss Cora Burns, of Nepton, Ky., who with one brother, Mr. Wm. H. Webb, survives.

The remains will be brought to Paris this morning on the early Louisville & Nashville train. The funeral arrangements will not be completed until the body arrives, but it is probable the services will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Webb was a member of the Cynthia Commandery, Knights Templar, being a Past Commander and was also a member of Paris Lodge No. 2, F. & A. M., and Royal Chapter No. 15. The services will be in charge of the Cynthia and Paris Masons.

INSURANCE AGENT MUST FACE SERIOUS CHARGE

Upon a bench warrant issued from the Bourbon Circuit Court, Robert Morris, an insurance agent formerly in the employ of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., in this city was arrested and is being held in Terre Haute, Ind., pending extradition. He is under indictment for embezzlement.

The warrant was executed by Mr. James Gibson, of Paris, who was appointed a special officer to secure requisition papers and return Morris to this city. The necessary papers were procured by Gibson Friday from Governor McCreary Friday and he left immediately for Terre Haute.

The prisoner is being held in that city pending a full identification and it is probable he will be returned here tomorrow.

Morris was indicted at the last term of the Bourbon Circuit Court on a charge of embezzlement, it being alleged that he appropriated to his own use the funds of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and is said to have been about one hundred dollars short in his account.

He moved with his family from this city to Terre Haute about six months ago.

CIRCUIT COURT CONVENED FOR THE MARCH TERM

Judge Stout Charges Grand Jury to Investigate Violations of Law

RECORDS IN 30 CASES TURNED OVER

Record for Crime in Bourbon Established in Three Months

With Judge Robert L. Stout presiding, the March term of the Bourbon Circuit Court convened yesterday morning. Indications are that the term will be a very busy one, owing to the number of cases on both the appearance and Commonwealth dockets.

Commonwealth's Attorney Victor Bradley arrived yesterday morning to represent the Commonwealth. After hearing motions Judge Stout had Sheriff W. F. Talbott and his deputies, W. G. McClintock and O. L. Marshall, sworn, when the grand jury was impaneled as follows: Will Wilson, Sims Wilson, Jack Cunningham, W. S. Isgrigg, John Johnson, David Feld, Aylette Buckner, Walter Kenney, foreman, Maurice Willis, C. T. Wilson, Jeff Kiser, Homer Hutchison.

Judge Stout delivered a lengthy charge to the grand jury in which he touched upon all infractions of the law. He told of thirty felony cases, the record of the examining trials being turned over to the court officials, saying that this number of crimes had been committed in this community in the past two and one-half months and which was an unusually large number for this county. He said that the crimes were of almost every conceivable nature and that they were due in most instances to the practice of carrying concealed weapons. This he said was responsible for most of the crimes that had been committed in this community since the last term of court.

He urged the grand jury to investigate all cases of carrying concealed weapons that were brought to their notice, expressing the opinion that should this element of lawbreakers be punished for such infractions there would be less crime.

He called attention to the liquor laws and the practice of gaming, and urged the jury to investigate any alleged infractions that might be brought to their notice. The grand jury entered upon its deliberations, after being instructed by the court to take up the felony cases when the defendants were confined in the county jail.

Shortly before court was adjourned yesterday afternoon the news of the sudden death of Mr. Frank P. Webb, a brother of Circuit Clerk W. H. Webb, which occurred at Knoxville, was received, and this will necessitate his absence and former Clerk C. E. Butler will fill his position on the opening of court this morning.

MUSICAL EXTRAVAGANZA TO BE PRESENTED THIS WEEK

"Every One Is In Slumberland" is a song that will be sung by Miss Elizabeth Hinton during the action of the play "Slumberland," a big musical extravaganza that will be presented at the Paris Grand this week, Thursday and Friday night, March 12 and 13.

This promises to be the biggest thing in the theatrical line that has ever been attempted in Paris. The sale of tickets has already exceeded anything so far this season, and the prospects are that the house will be crowded for both performances.

All over the city billboards and show windows are displaying the coming of "Slumberland," a big banner is stretched across Main street with letters a yard in height proclaiming "Slumberland," and frames of photographs of the principal groups and principals of the play are being displayed on the principal streets, giving one an idea of the immensity of this wonderful extravaganza.

It is understood that the same production that has been playing in the largest cities, where as high as $2.50 has been charged for the best seats will be given in its entirety here for the price of $1.00 for the highest priced seats. Everyone should take advantage of this opportunity of witnessing a real big city extravaganza and in so doing assist a worthy cause, as the opera is given for the benefit of the public school funds.

The curtain for the Slumberland attraction will ascend promptly at eight o'clock, and all are requested to be in their seats by that time. As he play will run three hours it is desired to begin as early as possible. Those who exchanged their patrons' tickets are requested to send the money for same to Prof. Hendricks at the school building without delay.

FALL URGES USE OF ARMY AND NAVY TO PREVENT WAR

Urges Plan in Senate to Furnish Protection to Foreigners in Mexico

VERGARA'S BODY IN AMERICA

Reported Invasion By Rangers Is Denied By Gov. Colquitt

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Urging the use of the army and navy of the United States for the protection of Americans and other foreigners in Mexico, which he said would prevent war, Senator Fall, Republican, of New Mexico, addressed the Senate to-day and gave a list of sixty-three outrages upon Americans, including murder and rape, concerning which the Senator said he had personal knowledge.

"With the solemn declaration that we do not want war upon the Mexican people nor the Mexican nation," said Senator Fall, "that is not our purpose to acquire territory, upset their laws, nor overturn their constitution, and an invitation to the masses of the Mexican people to co-operate with us, we should immediately direct the use of the land and naval forces of this Government for the protection of our citizens and other foreigners in Mexico and lend their assistance to the restoration of order and maintenance of peace in that unhappy land."

"I might slight authority after authority as justification under international law for such action, but I will only read from the message of the martyred McKinley, with only the suggestion that we insert the name

COLLEGES ARE CONSOLIDATED

Hamilton and Bourbon Colleges Are to Be Merged This Fall

The consolidation of the Bourbon Female College, of this city, and the Hamilton College of Lexington, was announced Saturday by President R. H. Crossfield, acting for the executive committee. The consolidation will become effective September 1, 1914, when Mrs. M. G. Thompson, president of Bourbon College, will become the lady principal of Hamilton College, and Miss Alice T. Katt, head of the Department of Mathematics in the Preparatory Department of Hamilton College, will take a position as instructor in Mathematics, succeeding Miss Caroline Berry, a sister of Mrs. F. P. Lowry, of this city, who has resigned from the position of lady principal and instructor in mathematics.

The announcement of the consolidation of the two colleges was received with much surprise here, and the fact that Mrs. Thompson will leave the city has been the source of deep regret since it became known that the two schools would combine at the coming of the session this fall.

Mrs. M. G. Thompson was reared in Mercer county, and graduated from Daughters College in 1882, when that institution was in the prime of its usefulness. President John Augustus Williams commended her as the best student in English he had ever sent out from that institution. Later she received her degree of Bachelor of Literature from Bourbon College. Mrs. Thompson taught for six years in the Christian College, Hustonville, Ky., and four years in the North Middle-town College, occupying the position of instructor in English and history and lady principal in both institutions. For the past fourteen years she has been the lady principal and president of Bourbon College, in this city. Since the death of her husband, Prof. M. G. Thompson, in July, 1913, she has had entire charge of Bourbon College. Under her management the institution has grown to be one of great influence, and is widely known as one of the foremost colleges for women in the State. The people of Paris and vicinity will with reluctance yield to the merging of that institution with Hamilton College.

The local institution will close with the end of the session this year, when Mrs. Thompson will go to Lexington to assume the duties of her new position next fall. A large number of the students now enrolled in the Bourbon College will enter Hamilton College next fall.

No man is Stronger Than his Stomach

The Medical Adviser by E. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y. answers hosts of delicate questions about which every man or woman, single or married, ought to know. Sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay for wrapping and mailing.

LET the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his strength will soon fail. One's stamina—forcefulness and strength of mind or muscle depend upon the blood, and the blood in turn, requires a healthy stomach, for the stomach is the laboratory where the food is digested and such elements are taken up or assimilated—which make blood. In consequence all the organs of the body, such as heart, lungs, liver and kidneys, as well as the nervous system, feel the bad effect if the stomach is deranged.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

helps the stomach to digest food properly, starts the liver into new activity, removing the poisons from the blood, and the various organs get rich, red blood, instead of being ill nourished. The refreshing influence of this extract of native medicinal plants has been favorably known for over 40 years. Everywhere some neighbor can tell you of the good it has done.

Sold by all medicine dealers in liquid or tablet form; or send 50 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, and a trial box will be mailed you.

BECKHAM TO OPEN CAMPAIGN MARCH 16

FRANKFORT, KY., March 6.—Former Governor J. C. W. Beckham today announced that he would open his campaign for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate at Elizabethtown on Monday, March 16. It will be county court day at Elizabethtown, and a large crowd is expected from all over the Fourth district to hear his speech.

Bardonia, Gov. Beckham's old home, is in the Fourth. He says that he will make a vigorous campaign until the time for the primary, and it is his present intention to make about two speeches a week, covering practically the entire State.

The former Governor will establish his headquarters in Frankfort. Gov. Beckham and his supporters are confident that he will easily defeat Congressman A. O. Stanley and Gov. McCreary for the nomination.

CINCINNATI, March 6.—"J. C. C. Mayo spent a pretty good night and continues to improve." This information was given out at the Jewish Hospital. Unless complications develop, the prominent Kentuckian, it is believed, will be able to leave the hospital in several weeks.

TUBERCULOSIS REDUCED IN STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

(From the Quarterly Bulletin of the State Board of Health, New Hampshire.)

"Only a few persons who have studied the mortality statistics of the State probably realize the great reduction that has been made in the number of deaths in New Hampshire from tuberculosis during the past quarter of a century. We, therefore, give some facts that cannot fail to be of public interest.

"From the first date to the last, there was a progressive diminution in the number of deaths from this disease. In 1884, there were 863 deaths returned; in 1885, 857 deaths; in 1886, 809 deaths, and so on, progressively, down to 433 deaths in 1911—the lowest figures yet returned in a single year.

"The mortality from tuberculosis to each living 10,000 of the population has been reduced from 24.10 to 10.01. The causes of this reduction must be conceded to be largely educational. The first concerted effort to enlighten the public as to the nature of tuberculosis was begun by the State Board of Health immediately after its organization in 1881 in the publication of circulars and bulletins. From that date to the present time, these have been extensively circulated by the Board. In addition there have been public lectures under the auspices of the State Board of Health and various voluntary organizations. In the great educational work must be mentioned the New Hampshire Federation of Women's Clubs, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the New Hampshire branch of the Red Cross, the New Hampshire State Grange, various charitable organizations, and individuals personally interested in the work.

"In a careful examination of the statistics of the disease, the evidence must be conclusive, that the reduction in mortality has been secured almost wholly through instructions in various directions from the sources mentioned. In the more recent years should be included the cures, arrested cases, and direct instruction at sanatoria.

"So far as the action of the State of New Hampshire is concerned, it may be noted that the first legislative action applying in any sense to the consideration of tuberculosis was the enactment which created the State Laboratory of Hygiene, and provided for the bacteriological examination of sputum from suspected cases, and for the detection of possible meat infection.

"In 1903, a law was enacted prohibiting spitting on sidewalks and other public places.

"In 1905, the New Hampshire State Sanatorium, for the treatment of tuberculosis cases, was created; also, an act was passed requiring that every death from pulmonary consumption, and every removal of a tuberculosis patient, should be reported to the local Board of Health—in order that the premises may be properly disinfected."

ELABORATE PLANS

Completed for Unveiling of William Goebel Monument Wednesday.

Frankfort—Elaborate plans for the unveiling of the statue of the late Gov. William Goebel, which stands in front of the new Capitol building here, were tentatively arranged at a joint meeting of the State and House committees. The unveiling ceremonies will be held beginning at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, March 11. In addition to members of both houses of the General Assembly, it is expected that a large number of persons will be present from all over the State.

Miss Margaret McCord, daughter of Interstate Commissioner Charles C. McCord, has been selected to unveil the statue after the formal address has been delivered.

Three speakers, each of whom was a warm personal friend and political associate of Gov. Goebel, have been selected to pay eulogy to his memory—Gov. James B. McCreary, former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, and Congressman A. O. Stanley. The wishes of Justus Goebel, only surviving brother of the martyred Governor, were consulted by the committee in drafting the program. The Rev. T. F. Taliaferro, of Frankfort, also a close personal friend of Goebel, will open the ceremonies with prayer.

Just before the hour for the ceremonies to begin, artillery at the State Arsenal across the river will give the Governor's salute of seventeen guns. Immediately after this, headed by the Frankfort Military Band, the Governor and other State officials and members of the House and Senate will form into line of march at the door of the Capitol and march down to the statue where platform will have been erected for the unveiling ceremonies. In the event of inclement weather the programme will be carried out in the hall of the House of Representatives.

Col. Eph Lillard, former warden of the penitentiary here, and an intimate friend of Goebel, was selected as secretary of the joint Senate and House committee, and with Senator George Speer, who was chosen chief marshal of the day, will be in active charge of arrangements. The members of the Senate and House committees in charge of the day are: Senators Walker C. Hall, of Covington; George C. Speer of Frankfort; R. H. Scott, of Edmondson; J. R. Zimmerman, of Bullitt county, and J. Will Clay, of Mt. Sterling; Representatives Harry J. Meyers, of Covington; Louis Teisman, of Newport; John C. Duffy, of Hopkinsville; Matt S. Walton, of Lexington, and Shelton Saubey, of Stanford.

OUR WEEKLY NOVELETTE.

"Young Love in Spring. They loved each other truly; Yea, truly loved each other; But still they had a quarrel, And she ran home to mother.

She was sitting on the fence at 4 in the afternoon (for she was very unconventional) when he stopped below and called to her.

With the memory of his brusqueness the preceding afternoon, she turned away her head without answering.

He called again, and still she did not answer or acknowledge that she had heard.

Then (for he was a persistent youth) he leaped up beside her and put his face roughly close to hers. With a low sniff she turned her back on him completely but, taking it as a favorable omen that she remained seated on the fence when she could have jumped down (for she was very agile), he blew softly into her ear.

With an enraged gasp she turned furiously and swiftly and slapped him soundly on the ear.

He was naturally gallant, but the blood of savage ancestors was in him, and he could not take this passively. Turning upon her, he dealt her a blow on the cheek that knocked her clear off the fence.

He was sorry as soon as he had struck her, for he was usually noted for his gentlemanliness, but before he could jump down and try to make it up she had given him one injured glance and was running quickly.

Heartily ashamed of himself, he tried to catch her, but she slipped through a little hole in the fence and evaded him, and—

It wasn't until the next afternoon that these two cats met again.

THE END.

If a problem play really explained any of the problems it tackles, $2 a seat would be mighty cheap.

$300 STEER STAKE.

Editor Bourbon News:

If the Kentucky State Fair would advertise that it would give a three hundred dollar class for steers, two years and under, and if other fairs would offer good premiums in the steer class every year, what would that mean to this beautiful grazing land that is filled with scrubs? There would be something doing among the cattle breeders and feeders. You could see the broad-backed roans and reds grazing the field that God made so beautiful for the thoroughbred and the pure bred. It would be a vision to the farmer's son, and the young farmer who is thinking of leaving the farm for the city would no longer tire of farm life. Instead, there would be a charm in his grazing herd; he would see farming in a new light; the song of the birds would seem sweeter, and the grass would grow greener. The little brook with its rumbling song would accord with the whistle of the farmer's son.

Good stock goes with good farming. Good farming means good citizens, stepping higher in every branch of farm life. What is a steer worth? That depends upon his breeding and the kind of man that has charge of him. The steer feeds the rich and the poor; he protects our feet, turns the wheels of the nation, bleaches white our fine sugars strained through his charred bones. He gives us buttons, beautiful hair-pins to adorn the head, and his hair is used to beautify our walls, fine soaps, glue, fertilizers, etc., are obtained from the steer. He returns fertility to the soil, gives to his owner a good sum of money for his care and feed. He gives employment to many thousand people. The Armour Company employs over thirty-two thousand people in its plant and pays out $87,100,000 for cattle annually. The payroll of the company amounts to nearly $26,000,000 a year. Its packing plants cover two hundred and eight acres of land and 2,100 horses and 500 cars are made use of daily. In supplying food, clothing, furnishings for the home, articles that adorn, preparations that heal, products that make for health, comfort, efficiency and economy—all along the line—extremely few are complete without the use of one of several articles of animal origin. Thus does this industry contribute to commerce, science and art.

Oh! may the good days of the '80's return to our bluegrass land, when we could count the Shorthorn herds by the tens and twenties and sell them from one to four, six and ten thousand a head. It was then that the champion steers of Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and New Orleans, like Nunsuch and Schooler, were bred and developed in Kentucky, the grandest and most beautiful land in all the world. Nunsuch won medals and cups and one thousand dollars in cash, for his owner, the late Mr. W. H. Renick. Several times, the champion steer of Chicago has sold for $1.50 per pound.

Is he worthy a place in the show ring? He would be a drawing card for the great army of cattle feeders. He would be a model, a type for the young farmer to build upon.

The champion steer of Argentina in 1913, sold for over $1,700. The champion Shorthorn sold for over $13,000. The champion Shorthorn of England in 1913 sold for $30,000. May our grand old State again produce such champions as Victor, Waterloo, King Cumberland, Fannie Forester and Red Rose 8th.

"Joseph and His Brethren" at the Lexington Opera House

The third of the Century Theatre dramatic spectacles, "Joseph and His Brethren," will come to the Lexington Opera House April 13, 14 and 15. In some respects it is built on a larger scale than either of its predecessors, for it has twelve scenes where "The Garden of Allah" had only eight. There are more than sixty speaking parts. Its success has been phenomenal.

"Joseph and His Brethren" is a vitalized version of the story in the Book of Genesis, written for the stage by Louis N. Parker. Mr. Parker is known chiefly in America for his "Disraeli" and "Pomander Walk," but in England he is known as the author of other successes, including "Drake," the hit of the last London season. "Drake" was given a spectacular production at His Majesty's Theatre by Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, who has also produced "Joseph" there this season.

To present "Joseph and His Brethren" the Liebler Company has selected a cast of unusual ability. Brandon Tynan, who has been a star in his own plays and leading man for Nazimova, will play the role of Joseph. James O'Neill, if "Monte Christo" fame, will have the part of Jacob, the patriarch, and in the third act will play Pharaoh. Pauline Fredericks, pronounced by artist Harrison Fisher the most beautiful woman in America, and numerous other players of reputation will be seen in the cast, while the heads of the technical departments of the Liebler Company who worked out the so-called "effects" in the play will accompany the big production to the Lexington Opera House.

The company when traveling has almost the proportions of a circus, with its special train of fourteen cars. Among the latter are herds of camels, oxen, asses, horses and sheep.

The four acts of "Joseph and His Brethren" will be known as "The Coat of Many Colors," "The Temptation," "The Dreams" and "The Deliverer." The scenes will be respectively: "The Tents of Shechem," "The Wells of Dothan," "Jacob's Tent," "The Entrance to Jacob's House," "The Pyramids," and "In Joseph's House." (10-2t)

Seth Cogswell has been inventing again. He says there is entirely too much uncertainty about eggs. His idea is this: As soon as an egg is laid it will be taken to a jewelry store. A small door will be neatly cut in the shell and fitted with tiny hinges and a lock so that a purchaser can take a peep and satisfy himself that all is well within. It will be a trifle expensive, but who cares for expense where pure food is concerned?

HUGE INVITATION

A Conference of Farmers and Business Men Early This Spring

A MEETING FOR THE SOUTH

A Great Opportunity For a Short-cut Method of Seeing What Is Best in Rural Co-operation in the United States—A Real Getting Together.

Almost everyone who has head the magazines and newspapers in the last or so has wished to travel to many points and learn first-hand what the leaders in co-operation are doing. Of course, this has been an impossibility and even if one could make it possible, there would be no time left for constructive work at home. To a certain extent the "County Life Conference" in Louisville, April 7, 8, 9, 10, will make this a possibility without extensive traveling.

Leaders in co-operative movements from many parts of the South and from innumerable Northern States, have been engaged to tell just what they have accomplished and how it was accomplished. They are to tell their "ups" as well as their "downs," in the cause of co-operation. They will also be on hand to show exactly how the work which has been a success at home can be transplanted to other neighborhoods. They will bring with them not only the story, but also all of the material that is used in their perfected organization to-day that it may run smoothly.

Enough enthusiasm is sure to be developed to make organizations among those present a certainty. This will be done by these men in the most detailed way possible. The leaders who come to the Conference should be able to take the good word home in such shape that it can be redeveloped and take root.

If you should wish to better your own condition, or the condition of your state, or the condition of the whole South, it would be well worth your time and money to come to Louisville at this time.

Even if you are not at all anxious to hear any one of the speakers or see any of the demonstrations, still it would be a delight to be in a crowd of people who are enthusiastic enough and devoted enough to come and rub elbows with other leaders. After all, there is nothing much better in life than the glow which comes to all of us when we come in contact with "live wires" from scattered places over the whole country.

If you are a leader or feel that you might be a leader or hope to be a leader, make your plans at once and get the dust off your grip sack that you may be ready to be with the splendid bunch that will talk things over so far the South may grow in prosperity, in farm life, in home life and in neighborhoods.

FARMERS' CLUBS

Prof. A. D. Wilson.

The press of the country for the past several years has been full of the wonderful work done by the Boys' and Girls' Corn and Tomato Clubs. Naturally, it would seem time for us to have something in the press concerning clubs for farmers and their wives.

Some work in successful farmers' clubs has been done in the State of Minnesota and Prof. A. D. Wilson, of the Extension Department of State University is the man who has developed it. His wide experience in this field has appealed so strongly to those in charge of the program for the Farmers' and Business Men's Conference, that arrangements were made for him to come to the meeting at Louisville, April 7-10, to develop the same enthusiasm that has attended the work in his home state. He is a speaker of ability, and it is hoped that he may encourage our farmers to the point of organizing some clubs in Kentucky and in the South for this year.

The Conference in Louisville, April 7-9-10, is of such importance that extremely low railroad rates have been made. You can make the trip from your home town to Louisville at this time for one fare plus 25 cents.

THE FORTY YEAR TEST

An article must have exceptional merit to survive for a period of forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was first offered to the public in 1872. From a small beginning it has grown in favor and popularity until it has attained a world wide reputation. You will find nothing better for a cough or cold. Try it and you will understand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. It not only gives relief—it cures. For sale by all dealers. (March) (adv)

It must be discouraging to a man who has thought up a dashing, poetic name for a race horse to hear the bookmakers trying to pronounce it.

HAD CATARRH FIVE YEARS.

Mr. Johnson of St. Elmo, Illinois, was troubled five years with catarrh. The catarrh was so severe in his case that his life seemed threatened. As he expressed it himself, he had "one foot in the grave."

Of course he tried to get relief. Many practitioners were consulted and a catarrh specialist in St. Louis was tried. He got so weak and thoroughly run down that he declared he could not walk more than a hundred yards without resting.

Few people understand that catarrh is a constant drain on the system. The discharge of mucus which is going on in such cases is largely composed of blood serum, and is a great waste. Sooner or later it will weaken the strongest man.

According to reports received from Mr. Johnson, he was in a desperate condition, but he found relief from his trouble. We will let him say how he found it. His own words say:

"My friends told me to take Peruna, and I did so. I now feel that Peruna has saved my life. It is the best medicine on earth, and I would not be without it."

This seems almost too good to be true. No doubt there are some readers that will think so. The above statements, however, can be verified by writing Mr. Johnson.

Every home should be provided with the last edition of "The Ills of Life," sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

BOURBON FAMILY SEE HOME PRISON COMMISSIONERS TO PAROLE 422 CONVICTS.

After having been forced to witness the burning of their home with all of its contents, together with barns and other improvements, near Tampico, Mexico, on February 4, and also involuntary witnesses to the horrible butchery of the Federal and Rebel soldiers, Mrs. William Collier and her three little children arrived in Paris Friday en route to Millersburg, from their farm in Old Mexico, 10 miles from Tampico.

Mr. William Collier, who is a son of Mrs. Rebecca Collier, of Millersburg, owned a valuable farm in Mexico, which was well improved with a modern residence, stock barns, etc., and he and his family were in a most prosperous condition until about a month ago.

On February 3, Mr. and Mrs. Collier heard that the Federal and Rebel troops would meet on the Collier farm, and they decided to save as much of their property as was possible. They hurriedly packed two trunks with wearing apparel, and herded the stock together and drove them to the back end of the farm. Here they were forced, with their little children, to witness the horrible battle that was waged which resulted in the death of countless numbers of soldiers.

After the forces of Gen. Villa and Gen. Carranza had won a decisive victory over the Federals, the soldiers proceeded to loot the Collier residence, after which they burned the house, together with barns and other improvements. Mr. Collier, however, managed to save all of the stock on the place with the exception of one steer.

After the battle, Mr. and Mrs. Collier and children went to Tampico, where they remained for about two weeks, when Mr. Collier placed his wife and three children on a boat bound for Galveston, Texas. Arriving there without mishap, Mrs. Collier and children took a train for Kentucky, arriving in Paris yesterday. They went direct to the home of Mr. Collier's mother, Mrs. Rebecca Collier, in Millersburg.

Mr. William Collier was joined at Tampico, Mexico, by his brother, Mr. Dick Collier, and as soon as the stock saved by Mr. William Collier can be disposed of, the brothers will proceed to Kentucky, and will remain in Bourbon County until it is safe for them to return to Mexico.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Collier will be sorry to learn of the big loss they have sustained, but are rejoicing that they were fortunate enough to escape from the strife-ridden country in safety.

Messrs. William and Dick Collier are brothers of Mrs. W. G. McClintock, of Paris; Mrs. Peale Collier, of Millersburg; Mrs. W. T. Bedford, of Lexington; and Mr. Robert Collier, formerly of Mt. Sterling, but now one of the proprietors of the Bourbon Lumber Company, in Paris.

The State Board of Prison Commissioners has completed arrangements for paroling prisoners from the Eddyville penitentiary and Frankfort Reformatory under the decision in the John DeMoss case, holding that prisoners serving indeterminate sentences are entitled as a matter of right to their parole when they have served their minimum sentences and complied with the conditions of the parole law.

Chairman Daniel E. O'Sullivan deprecates any general feeling of uneasiness over the discharge of so many prisoners because, in the first place, under the old law, most of them would have been released long ago by commutation of sentence, those sentenced for a year going free in nine months, whereas all these have served from one to two and sometimes more years; and, in the second place, because they go out under surveillance of the parole agent, liable to be returned at any time for violation of their paroles.

The paroles included 422 prisoners, 232 from Frankfort and 190 from Eddyville. The following convicts from Bourbon will come under the order: James Jones, white; malicious shooting; served fourteen months. Will Brown, negro; breaking into storehouse; served two years.

Harry Barton, negro; chicken stealing; served two years. Charles Kelly, negro; manslaughter; served three years.

FALL URGES USE

OF ARMY AND NAVY

'Mexico' in lieu of that of Cuba, or Spain."

Mr. Fall read a portion of President McKinley's famous war message and then referred to President Wilson's refusal last autumn to transmit information relative to Mexico to the Senate on the ground that it was incompatible with the public interest.

"Abraham Lincoln thought it not incompatible with the public interest fully to inform the Senate as to communications between this country and France.

Senator Fall picturing conditions in Mexico, included vivid statements he had received today from Emeterio de la Garza, who came to Washington last year in the interest of the Huerta Government.

A large portion of the letter which followed that was a detailed attack on President Wilson's Mexican policy. Senator Fall declared the United States had "politically intervened" in Mexico ever since John Lind was sent with an ultimatum to Huerta and further declared the United States owed Spain, England, France and Germany, whose citizens had been murdered or outraged.

RANGERS DID NOT INVADE.

AUSTIN, TEX., March 9.—Texas Rangers did not cross the Mexican border, nor participate in the expedition by which the body of Clemente Vergara, the American ranchman murdered by Federals, was secretly exhumed from Hidalgo, Mex. cemetery, and deposited by persons, as yet unidentified, on the Texas side of the Rio Grande before daylight Sunday morning.

This was the official version of the Vergara incident from State Capitol sources today. This version was born out by dispatches from Laredo, Tex., the nearest point to Hidalgo, where investigation could be made and transmitted by wire.

VERGARA'S BODY RETURNED.

LAREDO, TEX., March 9.—A shovel sticking in the soft earth of the open grave, and around the handle of the implement a card with the word "Recuerdos" (remembrance) was the single trace to-day of the mysterious night visit of a party of unidentified men to the Hidalgo, Mexico, cemetery, who disinterred the body of Clemente Vergara and returned it to Texas for burial by the family.

Vergara's body was secretly laid at a lonely spot on the Rio Grande, forty-five miles from Laredo, in the early dawn of Sunday morning, to be found by a Federal representative, a State officer and a county deputy sheriff, but who was responsible for its removal from Mexico was a question still unanswered. The body was here to-day awaiting an examination, which State authorities hope may disclose something to aid them in placing the blame for the ranchman's violent death after he was taken prisoner, disclosed two gunshot wounds in the head, one in the neck, a blow, as if by a rifle butt, which crushed the skull, and the mutilated left hand, twisted and charred by fire, suggested that torture had been inflicted before Vergara was executed.

WHAT WOULD COME OF THE INVASION OF RANGERS.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The audacious action of the Texas Rangers in crossing into Mexico and recovering the body of Clemente Vergara, who was murdered beyond peradventure, may prove to be the spark that sets fire to the magazine and force early intervention by the United States.

While the assassination of Vergara furnishes another grievance to this Government, the invasion of Mexico by Texas troops is in reality a more serious matter from an international standpoint, and under normal conditions could be properly construed by Mexico as an act of war.

But under present circumstances the Mexican government must recognize that its people are living in a state of anarchy, with the Government protection to foreigners, and consequently nothing more than a feeble protest can be expected.

President Huerta is not able to cope successfully with the revolutionists at all points, and therefore need not be expected to attempt to "call the United States to account for Texas' action, much less retaliate by declaring war, which would be the essence of ridiculousness.

But the danger lies in the possibility of an overt act by Mexicans in retaliation for the invasion by the Rangers. Such an overt act might easily lead to an immediate abandonment of the Administration's policy of "watchful waiting" and the substitution thereof of armed intervention, which would be equivalent to war under the circumstances.

This danger is recognized by public men who were apprised of the fact of the expedition into Mexico and its successful outcome. Thus the situation has become more acute than ever before, with the chances of intervention materially enhanced.

Governor Colquitt connived at a direct violation of the constitution, which vests only the General Government with the right of invasion of a foreign country, and may be held to be guilty of technical treason. But it is not imagined that the Government of Washington will undertake to hale him into court on such a charge.

Even did it attempt to, one can easily imagine what verdict a court in Texas would return.

So that the length to which Washington will go is to remind the Governments placed upon the military activity of the several States.

SCOTT FILES SUIT TO RECOVER $500 REWARD

Dan W. Scott, whose term as Sheriff of Fayette county expired on January 1, filed suit Saturday for the $500 reward which was raised at a meeting of citizens in 1899 for the capture of John H. ("King") McNamara, charged with the murder of Jacob Keller. After McNamara had been at large for thirteen years he was located and arrested in Louisville by Sheriff Scott on June 14, 1912, and being brought to Lexington was tried and on July 22, 1912, was sentenced to the penitentiary for five years. The suit filed by Mr. Scott is against the Second National Bank of Lexington, former Gov. W. O. Bradley, now United States Senator, and Mrs. Louise B. Berryman, treasurer of the citizens' committee which raised a fund for the apprehension of McNamara.

CHILDREN OF 12 YEARS MUST NOT BE SENT TO REFORMATORY

All children twelve years of age and under sent to the Reform School from various counties of the State hereafter will be sent back to the counties from which they were committed, and those in the same class at the institution will be returned home.

This was the ruling of the State Prison Commission, which met at Frankfort, and it inaugurated its new ruling by ordering that twenty-five children now at the school, ranging in age from nine to twelve years, be released at once and sent back to the counties from which they came.

Chairman Daniel E. O'Sullivan takes position that carrying out the spirit of the Commission's Reform School is not a proper place for these tots. Those immediately affected by the order will be returned home as fast as possible, while others of this tender age committed to the institution in the future will not be received.

County Judges and other authorities who have the right to send children to the institution should govern themselves accordingly.

NO Paint with fire-resisting qualities such as we claim for this paint has before been discovered.

How Do We Know

It is because no paint can be fire-proof until it is proven such, and before offering this to the public we have given it the severest tests, such as holding a blow-torch and concentrating the blaze for eleven consecutive minutes on metal coated with one application of this paint, and we failed to make it burn.

Excelsior

We have filled boxes that had been given one coat with excelsior, and set the excelsior on fire, and in no instance did we burn the box.

Something For You to Think About

If we could do no more than to fire-proof basements, there is hardly a limit to our field of operation, but we go further, as this paint resists moisture; and so for coating trestle work, posts, piling, dipping shingles, insulating electric wires, or any of the many conditions where safety is required, along with beauty and preservation, we offer Rea's Fire-Proof Paint as a superior article.

Color

We can add any coloring matter, but so far have only advocated two colors. The light paint (which can hardly be told from varnish) is for interior work. The white paint is for both interior and exterior work, and can be made sufficiently thin to use in a spraying machine, enabling the person applying it to reach inaccessible places, and covering all of the surface.

We feel that the foregoing statements will cause you to investigate, and surely you will do so when we tell you that the cost is only a trifle more than half that of any good paint.

All inquiries carefully answered.

The levy consists of 50 cents for the general fund and 25 cents to pay principal and interest on waterworks bonds. Farmer's Promise Work.
Elkton—A decision of the Court of Appeals by which over 400 prisoners at Eddyville and Frankfort will soon be released under the terms of the parole law, is proving quite an assistance to the farmers of Southern Kentucky in securing labor, of which there is a great scarcity throughout this section. As no convict can be released until he has secured employment, and as many of them are not skilled laborers, they are eagerly taking advantage of the opportunity to secure their liberty by working on a farm. Several farmers of the Trenton vicinity have made arrangements for the services of fifteen colored convicts whose minimum terms will soon expire.

Frankfort—The Court of Appeals, affirming the Woodford Circuit Court, held the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company liable for $1,297.50 on the tobacco crop of James Searcey, destroyed by fire in his barn on February 16, 1911. Judgment Affirmed.
Frankfort—The judgment of the Warren Circuit Court was affirmed by the Court of Appeals in the case of Ellen D. Cabell against the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, in which the Court found for the company in Mrs. Cabell's suit to recover $5,000 the amount of a policy on the life of her husband, B. F. Cabell. The policy had lapsed.

ONLY ONE BEST
Paris People Give Credit Where Credit is Due

People of Paris who suffer with weak kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. Doan's Kidney Pills is a medicine for the kidneys only, and one that is backed by the willing testimony of Paris people. Here's a case: M. Holleran, 200 W. Seventh St., Paris, Ky., says: "Sometimes the passages of the kidney secretions were painful. I had backaches, too. I used much medicine, but was not benefited until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. They soon made me feel better and stronger."

Mr. Holleran is only one of the many Paris people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Holleran had—the remedy that is backed by home testimony. FOREST NOTES.

Canada has 23 million acres of timber reserves, as compared with 187 million acres in the National forests of the United States. Apple wood is the favorite material for ordinary saw handles, and some goes into so-called breir pipes. New Jersey has a timbered area of about two million acres, on which the timber is worth about $8,500,000 on the stump. It is mainly valuable for cordwood.

DID CHILD WAKE UP CROSS OR FEVERISH?

Look, Mother! If Tongue is Coated Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once. When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the food waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good inside cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages, and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California" brand. Don't be fooled! (adv)

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION.

Pruning Fruit Trees.

One of the greatest problems confronting the Kentucky fruit growers to-day is pruning. Everywhere throughout the State are to be found orchards that have been neglected for years. The trees are often too crowded, which forces the topmost branches to reach up for sunlight thus producing a tall, uneven tree with a dense heavy top. The lower branches are either dead or covered with numerous cankers because the air and sunlight cannot get in keeping the limbs in a health condition. Dead wood is abundant, especially in the center of the tree.

An orchard similar to the above cannot be a profitable one. Fruit borne on trees of this kind will be small and inferior and will be produced only at the sides and tops of the trees. All of the bearing wood will be on the outside of the tree and none on the inside. It is safe to say that only one quarter of the tree is producing fruit. The other three quarters are simply allowing the bearing part to pay for the keeping of the tree.

In pruning an old tree that has been neglected for some time, the first thing to do is to remove the dead branches. Next look for diseased branches and get rid of them. If the diseased limb be a valuable one, the affected part may be cut out and the wound treated with a good disinfectant. Bichloride of mercury may be used in disinfecting such areas.

Trim out branches that have a tendency to rub each other or that grow back into the center of the tree across another limb. Cankers are often found where branches rub and the removal of such limbs will aid in keeping cankers under control. Parallel branches are also objectionable because they have a tendency to lock together, thus excluding the air and sunlight from the under branch. Usually one good branch is better than two growing close together and in pruning one should attempt to cut away the weaker branch.

Watersprouts are very objectionable in a tree because they consume large quantities of plant food. They should always be removed unless it is desirable to leave one to fill in an open area on the tree. Watersprouts very seldom produce fruit until they are six or eight years old. To induce fruitfulness they should be cut back every year. If it becomes necessary to cut back any of the main limbs, always use a saw. Great care should be taken to make the cut parallel to the main limb and avoid leaving a stub. Avoid removing any limb over three inches in diameter if possible, as it takes considerable time for such a cut to heal over properly. Where a large limb has been removed the cut surface should be coated with a heavy paint to protect it from loss of moisture and to aid in keeping fungous diseases in control. White lead and oil are very good for this purpose.

It should be the aim of the pruner to head the old trees back. Trim them down instead of up. In cutting back large limbs—especially the ones that go up from the center—always cut them back to lateral growths. Where there is a considerable wood growth it is not best to take out all of the wood at once because there will be a very heavy growth of watersprouts the following summer. Try to prune a little every year and thus avoid such danger.

A very convenient tool for pruning is a saw similar to the ordinary meat saw. The blade is attached to a swivel so that it may be turned at any angle, thus allowing the operator to make the more difficult cuts in the croches. A long and short handled pair of shears are handy. Avoid the use of the axe. It often takes nature ten years to repair the damage done in ten minutes with this crude instrument.

The best time for pruning is in late winter just before the sap starts to flow. However, any time during the months of February or March will do. If the trees are pruned severely in the early winter months there is some danger from winter killing later on. Try to get the work done and do not wait until the exact time arrives.

JNO. H. CARMODY, Assistant Horticulturist Kentucky Experiment Station, Lexington, Ky.

Glassmaking used at one time to be the most aristocratic of all industries. A French law passed under Louis XI allowed none but men of noble birth to set up glass-blowing establishments or even to work therein. For many centuries this was the only trade-noblemen could venture to work in without any danger of losing caste. The art of glassblowing reached England through France and in its early days those engaged in it styled themselves "gentlemen glass-blowers."

WOMAN IN SHADOW OF GALLOWS 13 YEARS FREED.

Mrs. Kate Edwards, of Reading, Pa., who has been in the shadow of the gallows for nearly thirteen years for the killing of her husband, was released from the Berks County Jail a few days ago under a pardon granted by Gov. Tener. She was secretly taken from the city to begin life over again. Mrs. Edwards was convicted of first degree murder in 1901 and sentenced to be hanged, but four Governors declined to fix a day for her execution.

After her conviction petitions were circulated in many parts of the country and were signed by thousands of women, protesting against the execution of one of their sex. William A. Stone, who is now trying to prevent Harry K. Thaw from being returned to New York State from New Hampshire, when Governor refused to fix a date, and passed her case along to Gov. Pennypacker, who let her death warrant repose in a pigeon hole, as did also Govs. Stuart and Tener. Mrs. Edwards' case was several times taken to the Board of Pardons, but communication of sentence was always refused. Last month, however, the board recommended that she be pardoned, provided she would not be made a victim of further notoriety.

Much secrecy was maintained as to the date of the woman's liberation. It is believed she was taken to Philadelphia, where she will be placed in an institution and cared for. She is nearly 60 years old.

Mrs. Edwards and a negro employed with her husband in a quarry near her home were convicted. The husband was found dead with his head battered in. A short time after her arrest Mrs. Edwards gave birth to a negro child.

The woman later confessed that the negro was innocent of the crime, and he was granted a new trial and acquitted. Mrs. Edwards has five children who are living different parts of the country.

THE NEGROES

Choose Their Surnames From Those of "Old Masthas."

(Kansas City Star.)

What's a name? One answer that Shakespeare himself gives:

"But he who filches from me my good name
Robs me of that which not enriches him,
And makes me poor, indeed."

Not altogether in the sense indicated by this reply will my story deal. Surnames of negroes who were slaves were usually of their own selection, as they, like all mankind originally, were known by one appellation, a given name.

When it became necessary our Jewish people selected surnames that meant something and are generally euphonious as Rosenbaum, Silverstein, Lobe, Rothschild, and so on. When Anglo-Saxon surnames were added or adopted in the Eleventh and Twelfth centuries some seem to have been taken haphazard, and are of no significance. Our colored people retained, in the main, after freedom, the surname of "Old Mastah." Most of them felt proud of the family whom they served and spoke of them as "my white folks." "No corger blood in our family, and us cullored ones ain't got no use for po' white folks," so often used by the negro servant, had no general reference to financial conditions, meaning, rather, social status—"Mannahs and customs," as they sometimes expressed it.

Example of Missouri Negro.

One example of family fealty is the case of Nelson Crews. This really remarkable negro was born on the plantation of Dr. Samuel Crews, of Howard county, Missouri, who at that time owned over 500 negro servants. His parents were far above the average in intelligence and integrity. Joanna, the fine old mother of Nelson Crews, lives now in Kansas City. She was the weaver of the Crews name, and I believe there are woolen counterpanes yet in the possession of the family that bear evidence of her skill. From remarks made to me by a member of Dr. Crews' family a few days ago, they "our white folks," feel a pride in the fact that Nelson Crews helps to perpetuate the fine old name, and so creditably.

With us yet is a staunch, dependable negro woman, industrious and self-supporting, though long past three score years and ten, who, though she has led to the altar—yes, led to the word—three husbands, has never changed her surname; she either made pre-nuptial arrangements with her various suitors of brought them to law afterward, for Susan Clark she was, is and ever will be. "I was bo'n and bred on the plantation of Beverly R. Clark, the finest white folks in Kaintucky or any whah upon the yeath, and twel I meets up with a bettah name I don't see no'casion to change mine," insists Aunt Susan.

The numerous Collinses, Bradleys, Simpsons, Stones, Smarts herabouts bear out my assertion that negroes after freedom selected for their own the surnames of former owners.

Howard, Scott and Wallace Smith, negroes, good and creditable citizens of the vicinity of Kansas City, Mo., were slaves in the family of a sister of Cassius Clay. Though they are proud of the fact that they are of the Clay clan of colored folks, they prefer Smith, the name of the member of the family to whom they were assigned. Among their proudest possessions is a portrait of a handsome, distinguished looking white man, inscribed on the margin this testimony: "For My Dear Old Mammy From Green Clay Smith."

Nominated As President.

The donor was, you remember, nominated Presidential candidate by the Liberal Republican party.

Whether Hadley Bradley came by his curious cognomen of his own free will or force of circumstances I could never learn. This zealous colored "pasture," as he was called by his faithful flock, boasts of being a servant in the house of President Andrew Jackson. Why so loyal an adherent of "Mass General" didn't add Jackson to his alliterative appellation seems strange. He could have hardly considered its inference with poetical possibilities. One of the incidents Uncle Hadley was fond of relating in praise of "Old Hickory" was in the proof of his devotion to his wife; by the unction and frequency of its reiteration he evidently deemed this a clincher. "Old Mass General did sho' love his wife, hit mighty nigh broke his heart when she died and he peared lak he jes can't give her up."

An exception as proving a rule that negroes retained the surnames of former owners was the case of a noted negro of olden days here. Jackson, a long, lank, capable "hand," on a farm now in the heart of Kansas City, was bought when quite young by a civil engineer with the first one thousand dollars he saved from his salary. Jack was pleased with his young master, was faithful and respectful, but he would never adopt his surname. "No, young Mistis," he replied when asked why, "I ain't gwine back on the name my dady an' mammy went by; ef Scruggs was good enough for dey it p'intedly is good enough for me. Den I'm bound to say dat Capt. Scruggs was a fine old genlemurn an' a good mastah ad' 'spects' to bar dat name twel I die."

Jackson married Rachel, the widow of a free man. Harry Smith, Harry, though free, remained in the service of his "white folks," Col. Chick's family, until his death in 1849. Harry bought a lot in Kansas City, on Main street, near Missouri avenue. After his death the widow either could not or would not pay the taxes on this property. When it was about to be sold for taxes she was unable to redeem it, so her master gave her $50 for the lot, which including the taxes, was all it was worth, she affixed her cross mark to the deed of conveyance, contenting at the same time that her name was by rights Collins, "Cose dat de name I was bohn wid," but she was persuaded to sign Smith.

No Question of Origin.

There is no question the origin locally of the Tallaferos. Negroes and white folks as well pronounce that distinguished old name Taliver. There are, or were, quite a number bearing that surname in the city. We had a family of colored people here named Benoit. Though not serving white people of that name, they clung to it because they were proud to have once been members of that distinguished family of French residents of St. Louis.

A number of negroes after freedom retained the name Troost, some of them excellent and honorable people in their humble stations in slavery days and after. Could the city's street "namers" have had this in mind when applying that name to the busy thoroughfare? If so, that may settle vexed question, "Why Troost Avenue?" No one could or would say a word against the good, unassuming, unnoted Dr. Troost, but his humble career could warrant no such distinction as having one of the principal streets named after him.

Jabez Smith, a painter, near Independence, owned at one time more than 600 negroes. It is said he did not know half of them by sight. In view of this fact, it seems singular that negroes with Smith for surnames are not more numerous.

The prevalence of the many curious, fanciful, veen absurd given names of negroes in the old days is more easily accounted for. Negro mothers, no account of the oft-recurring in rapid succession of visits from the stork, were put to it, so to speak, to find names for their babies, so they would ask the white folks to assist in the selection. This gave sentimental young mistresses on young men hero worshippers or with romantic predilections opportunity to bestow upon the helpless infants favorite and noted names of history and fiction; hence Celpio, Caesar, Napoleon, Pompey, Cupid, Paris, Remus, Nebuchadnezzar (dwindled down to Buck), Caledonia, Pandora, Arminta, Fatima, Ursula, Cleopatra and other equally as far-fetched were lavishly interspersed among plain, every-day cognomens.

Named Many White Babies.

On the other hand, negro mamies occasionally named white babies. Birdie Fisher, the contralto singer, now in Chicago, was named by a capable, faithful mammy negro who never left the service of her mistress and aided in every way in rearing the children of the Fisher family.

An eminent physician of the olden times had a man servant with the same given name as his own. This man William attended to his master's office, kept the books, accompanied him usually on his visits to patients, and did the bleeding and cupping so frequently restored to by the old-time doctor. When the Civil War ended and William was free both he and his former owner began the practice of medicine in the same town. From doorways on opposite sides of the same street swung signs each reading "Dr. William Warren."

Disturbed conditions prevented a strict enforcement of ordinances in regard to licenses. The relations between the two Dr. Warrens continued, the white physician advising his former servant in perplexing cases and assisting in the serious ones, the colored M. D. rendering as of old, any aid in his power to "Old Mastah."

Kirby Smith, a pioneer of Jackson county, whose farm is now within the city limits, owned scores of negro servants. A while after the close of the war he was complimented on the fine body of land he possessed. "Yes," he replied; "oh, yes, the farm is a fine one, but I miss my negroes; honestly I would rather have back my trusty, good servants than own all the land between here and St. Louis. I'm lonesome without the cheery light blazing fires on the cabin hearths which shone from the ever-open doors the whole year round regardless of weather. I miss the loud guffaws, the dancing, the melody of the old corn gathering songs, the cheerful, willing service. You may take the blank plantation if you will just bring back my own negroes sound and well and happy as when they were taken from me."

Tom Bass, the noted negro horseman, not only retains his old master's surname, but continues to pursue the business congenial to the old-time Bass clan.

BATTLE IN CAB OF A LOCOMOTIVE.

MOBILE, Ala., March 6.—A fight in the cab of an engine to-day at Subuta, Miss., resulted in the killing of M. E. Cole, fireman of a Mobile and Ohio extra north-bound freight train, by his engineer, Marshall Baskin.

The killing, according to Baskin, followed an attack on him by Cole with a coal pick while the train was running at a high rate of speed. Baskin declares he shot after he was struck over the head.

Baskin was taken into custody at Shbuta, as well as the entire crew of the train, which stopped at that place.

The killing caused the train to be delayed several hours until a new crew could be sent to Shbuta from Mobile.

The statement of Baskin is that Cole, when the train was nearing Shbuta, began abusing him and attacked him with a coal pick and finally forced him to the floor of the tender, striking him over the head with the pick.

He said that when he got to his feet he drew his revolver and shot Cole.

HELEN KELLER HEARS SONG

Remarkable Woman Able To Distinguish Sound Again.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., March 6.—Helen Keller heard sound to-day for the first time since she became deaf, dumb and blind in childhood.

It was a song from "Die Walkure," sung by Mme. Salzman-Stevens, of a grand opera company. The women met by chance at the Auditorium and Mme. Stevens readily consented to "let Miss Keller hear" her singing. Standing by Mme. Stevens' side, but causing her fingers to pass over her lips as usual, Miss Keller suddenly exclaimed: "Oh, I have heard, I have heard; I could weep for joy."

Miss Keller became so excited that Mrs. J. A. Macey, her companion, tried to quiet her, but she repeated again and again: "Oh, I have heard, I have heard."

Port Orchard cedar of the Pacific coast, recently tried as a substitute for English willow in the manufacture of artificial limbs, has been found unsatisfactory. While it is light enough, it is too coarse and brittle.

As an experiment, the supervisor of the Beaverhead National forest is stripping the bark from the base of a number of lodgepole pine trees at various periods before they are to be cut for telephone poles. This girdling causes the trees to exude resin, and it is desired to find what effect this may have as a preservative treatment for the poles.

The State of New York has just published a comprehensive report of its wood-using industries.

Canada has a society of forest engineers. Dr. B. E. Fernow, of Toronto is President, and Mr. F. W. H. Jacobson, of Ottawa, is Secretary.

Lodgepole pine seed sown broadcast on the snow in Southern Idaho last spring germinated when the snow melted, and as many as 60 little trees were counted to the square foot. The summer was so dry, however, that most of the plants died, except where sheltered by brush or logs.

The pleasure and mirth of the entertainment was centered in the bride's book, which was in the reception hall, in charge of Mrs. W. A. Butler. In this book every guest was required to inscribe a wish for the bride. The wishes were interesting to read. At the appointed time the assembly parted and all were happy for having been there.

—One of the best drilled entertainments ever put on at the M. F. C. was "The Rivals," a five-act comedy drama, by Miss Bascom's class in expression, Saturday evening. All of the young ladies had been thoroughly trained and the parts were well taken. Of course the male characters were assumed by the young ladies, and despite this fact, they did their parts well. Their dramatic action was good and all of the spoken work was perfectly natural. There was no straining of voices and peculiar punctuations and emphasis that characterized so much of the work of Miss Walker while she was in the institution. The piece was rather heavy, it being one of the pieces in which Joe Jefferson starred for more than fifty years. We are sorry that space will not permit us to make just comment on each individual character. Miss Mary Bell Rudd as "Mrs. Malaprop," Miss Elizabeth Isham as "Sir Anthony Absolute," and Miss Marie Smith as "Captain Jack Absolute." Misses Margaret Peterson and Mattie Burford as "Lydia Languish" and "Julia" all deserve especial mention. While Miss Mary Bruce Redd, as fighting "Bob Acres," did her part in more than creditable manner. This is the part that Mr. Jefferson used to play, and could he have been present on Saturday night, notwithstanding the fact that a young lady was doing the part we know he would have applauded and complimented her afterward.

The acts were interspersed with lively music, which gave much variety, and there were no miscellaneous readings between acts, as has often been the case at such entertainments. The public go to see the play, and not to listen to miscellaneous readings. These we can get in the various recitals. Miss Bascom needs to be congratulated upon the manner in which she handled her class in this difficult and classical piece, and we know that she will have something good for us at the close of school. She has been the recipient of showers of compliments ever since the entertainment and we trust that she will be with us again next year. All who have witnessed her work would be delighted to have her do something of the kind with the young ladies and gentlemen of the town. We know that she could bring forth good results that the piece she would select would in no wise be a disappointment to the public, and all taking part would do their work well. Owing to the uncertainty of the weather the audience was not as large as it should have been. The following is the cast of characters: Sir Anthony Absolute.....Elizabeth Isham..

.....Marie Smith
Capt. Jack Absolute.....Ethel Staples
Faulkland.....Mary Bruce Redd
Bob Acres.....Julia Dickenson
.....Mona Saunders
Fag.....Mary Crates
Boy.....Virginia Thomas
Mrs. Malaprop.....Laura Bell Rudd
Lydia Languish.....Margaret Peterson
Julia.....Mattie Burford
Lucy, a maid.....Aleta Wilson

As an experiment, the supervisor of the Beaverhead National forest is stripping the bark from the base of a number of lodgepole pine trees at various periods before they are to be cut for telephone poles. This gridding causes the trees to exude resin, and it is desired to find what effect this may have as a preservative treatment for the poles.

The State of New York has just published a comprehensive report of its wood-using industries.

Canada has a society of forest engineers. Dr. B. E. Fernow, of Toronto is President, and Mr. F. W. H. Jacobbe, of Ottawa, is Secretary.

Lodgepole pine seed sown broadcast on the snow in Southern Idaho last spring germinated when the snow melted, and as many as 60 little trees were counted to the square foot. The summer was so dry, however, that most of the plants died, except where sheltered by brush or logs.

DEATHS

KENNEDY.

—Mr. John Kennedy, aged 20 years, died Friday morning at Corbin, while en route from Middlesboro to his home in Richmond, from an attack of acute indigestion. Mr. Kennedy was formerly employed as a clerk in the freight department of the Louisville & Nashville railroad in this city. He left here about six months ago for his home in Richmond and later accepted a traveling position, which he held at the time of his death. He was taken from a train at Corbin. He was the son of Mr. Joseph Kennedy, a clerk in the Frankfort penitentiary.

PATON.

—Mr. H. T. Paton died at his home in Lexington yesterday morning at 7 o'clock, following an illness of several days. Mr. Paton was 84 years old, and death was due to Bright's disease, coupled with la grippe.

For several days before his death he was unconscious and his passing was no surprise to the members of his family, who had been patiently watching at his bedside.

Mr. Paton was a native of Bourbon county, but moved to Lexington about twenty-five years ago, engaging in the business of a cabinet workman.

He was a member of Bourbon Lodge of Odd Fellows, in this city, for many years, and was an industrious, energetic, good-natured man, who was esteemed by all who knew him for his sterling qualities.

He is survived by four children: Mr. Burr Paton, for the last twenty years mailing clerk on the staff of the Lexington Leader; Mr. Henry T. Paton, Jr., formerly collector for B. B. Smith & Co., both of Lexington; Mr. James Paton, assistant cashier of the First National Bank, of Temple, Texas, and Miss Amanda Paton, of Mineral Wells, Texas.

Mr. Paton's wife, Mrs. Ella Paton, died about one year ago, and the death of Mr. Paton comes as a double bereavement to the sons and daughter, who have the sympathy of many friends in their irreparable loss.

Mr. Henry Tyler Paton was the son of James and Catherine Trundle Paton. He was born in Paris, September 22, 1830, and was the second son of thirteen children, his father having married twice. He with his father was initiated into the Paris Lodge of Odd Fellows January 26, 1852, consequently was one of its oldest members. Mr. Paton held the office of Sheriff back in the sixties, and at the expiration of his term of office concluded to embark in the furniture business. He was a successful merchant for many years.

Mr. Paton was an uncle of County Clerk Pearce Paton, of this city.
